NAWO organised a webinar on COVID-19 and migrant workers on September 21, 2020. The webinar focused on the scenario of migrant workers during the COVID-19 pandemic. The study and analysis of the migrant workers during the pandemic, both at the global and national level, was discussed during this meeting. Few workers shared their issues and problems that they had to face during the lockdown period. The webinar concluded with an agreement on the need of the study on migrant workers, both men and women and plan advocacy based on the results of the study.
